

Didier Bonnet leads Ingredients, Material and Nutrition R&D team and is a member of the R&D Leadership Team at Cargill.

After several years of activities in public research in France where he worked in molecular biology and biophysics Didier has been pursuing his career in the ingredients industry since 1984. He joined Cargill via the acquisition of Cerestar in 2002. His previous experiences include Quality Assurance, Product Development, Food Applications, Technical Services and Applied Research.

Outside Cargill Didier is a member of the leadership team of the European Technology Platform Food for Life. He is the president of the Scientific council of AgroSup Dijon and was appointed to the council of strategic orientation of the French Institute for Agricultural, Forestry, and Veterinary Sciences (Agreenium).

Didier earned an engineer degree in chemistry in 1975 and a PhD. in Molecular Pharmacology in 1979.

Favorite Quote: Chance favors only the prepared mind (L. Pasteur).